Blob Feelings

The blobs need some help figuring out how they feel. Can you help them?

● FEELING FACES

Each blob would like a face drawn on them to show how they feel. You can use the colour of each blob to think about how that blob might be feeling. What emotion might the yellow blob be experiencing? What about the red blob?

● THE NAME GAME

Once each blob has a face, can you name the feeling? You might even be able to think of more than one name. For example, there's the feeling of being happy but there's also joy and excited and cheerful and pleased!

● STORY TIME

Can you think of a reason why each of the blobs might be feeling the way they feel? Could you make those reasons into a story to help someone else understand how the blobs are feeling?
